Rossland – 33 minute drive

Castlegar is a family-friendly community located in the West Kootenay region of British Columbia, Canada. The communities of Trail, Rossland and Nelson are close by.

It is situated at the confluence of the Kootenay and Columbia Rivers in the southwestern corner of the Kootenay Rockies, Castlegar's current population is just under 10,000.

Incorporated in 1966, this relatively new mill town sits in a valley that has a rich and diverse history, steeped in the heritage and culture of the Doukhobors, who migrated here in the early 20th century.

People come to Castlegar for many reasons – its diverse art scene, its world-class recreational activities, its rich culture, and its ideal location.

CASTLEGAR COMMUNITY COMPLEX

The Castlegar and District Community Complex is a multi-purpose facility which houses an Arena, a 6 lane, 25 meter pool and leisure pool, whirlpool, weight room, fitness studio, meeting rooms, and a banquet facility. Adjacent to the facility are four tennis courts, soccer/football field, ball diamond, and skate boarding park.

The arena features:

- An Event concourse
- NHL size ice surface
- 6 dressing rooms with bathrooms and showers
- Concession
