COMMUNITIES OF VANCOUVER ISLAND NORTH

ALERT BAY

Connected by a 35-minute ferry from Port McNell, Alert Bay offers a treasure of First Nations culture and history, including the world's tallest Totem Pole, the U'mista Cultural Centre that showcases the region's unique heritage, and the 'Namgis' original burial grounds. Explore the marshland boardwalk trails in the Ecological Park, with bald eagles and ravens soaring above, then stop and savour an authentic salmon barbecue.

COAL HARBOUR

Coal Harbour is the secret entrance to the many boating and charter fishing opportunities of Quatsino Sound. 20 minutes west of Port Hardy, this cute community delivers natural wonders and local history.

HOLBERG

Stop at the infamous Shoe Tree on your way to this quaint community, then enjoy the delicious flavours at the local pub before exploring Ronning's Garden, established in 1910 with seeds and cuttings from around the world.

PORT ALICE

Kayak, Stand-Up Paddle board, or canoe the waters of Nematus Inlet, at this Gateway to the Wild West Coast, then explore the unique karst formations - including the Eternal Fountain and Devil's Bath, Canada's only cenote. Enjoy the beautiful scenery and explore the community on the wheelchair-accessible Sea Walk.

PORT HARDY

The region's largest community offers easy access to offshore charter tours, BC Ferries sailings to Prince Rupert and Bella Coola, and a community rich with First Nation history. Experience the Quatsino Salmon Stewardship Centre, meet the curator in the museum, picnic and stroll at Storey's Beach, or go west to hike the Cape Scott Trail or the North Coast Trail.

PORT MCNEILL

The perfect base camp for wildlife tours and adventures on the pristine waters of the Broughton Archipelago. Stop at the museum to learn of the town's connection to the logging industry, then visit Alert Bay and Sointula via BC Ferries.

QUATSINO

Arrive by floatplane, private boat, or water taxi to enjoy the sport fishing lodges of this west coast Shangri-La, then explore the sunny shoreline and St. Olaf's Anglican Church - one of the oldest buildings still in use on Vancouver Island North.

SOINTULA

Literally translated, this Finnish-settled community is a place of harmony, and features excellent hiking and easy strolling, fresh air and saltwater. Bring your car on the ferry from Port McNell, or borrow a bike from the Sointula Resource Centre to explore the island.

TELEGRAPH COVE

This local landmark has served many functions over the decades: a one-man telegraph shack, a lumber mill, and a salmon saltery. With a resort, cabins, campgrounds, marinas, and the Whale Interpretive Centre and boardwalk, it's the perfect place for eco-adventures and wildlife tours.

WINTER HARBOUR

On the edge of Quatsino Sound, this historic fishing village offers easy access to sport fishermen seeking big trophies, as well as oceanfront hikes, kayaking adventures, and sandy beaches for everyone. An excellent spot to watch for sea otters, bald eagles, and intertidal life.

WOSS

The heart of the Nimpkish Valley, this petite community offers excellent hiking, canoeing, skiing, and waterports. The rebuilt fire tower delivers incredible views of the valley, and nearby Nimpkish Lake and Woss Lake provide amazing windsurfing and kitesurfing conditions.
