7 Tips to Protect your Business from the Risks of Remote Employees

With a rapid increase of telecommuting, follow these tips to help reduce threats

Issue security policy guidance and rules reminders to reinforce best practices

Set up a VPN to encrypt data from being seen by third parties

Require use of encryption and WPA (WiFi protected access) to secure networks

Password protect devices used by employees and third parties

Power down computers when not in use to stop internet attacks or intrusions

Maintain Anti-Virus and Anti-Malware Software on all employer-supplied equipment and devices

Back up data regularly, ensuring it's encrypted to prevent critical business disruptions in case of ransomware attack

sovereign®
INSURANCE